VINTAGE OVERVIEW

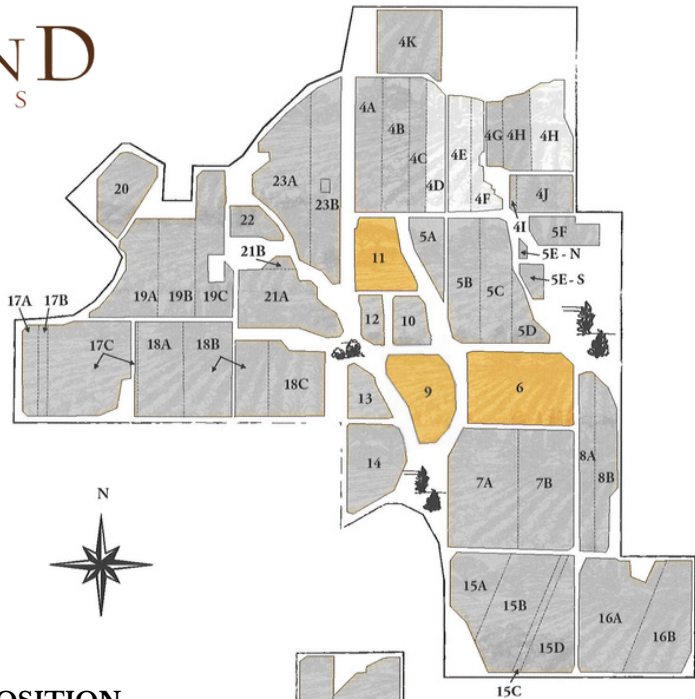

It seems like Mother Nature throws us a curveball during every growing season, and 2022 was no different. In mid-April, post-bud-break, a cold front brought record-low temperatures and frost into the Willamette Valley, leaving many to wonder if there would be a crop to harvest come Fall. In average years, Hyland's slightly higher elevation lends itself to a delayed start to the growing season compared to the rest of the valley. The delayed start greatly benefited the vineyard in 2022 as it could go mostly unaffected by the cold weather. July through September was unusually warm and helped give the vines the boost they needed to get back on track. Ideal conditions continued into October, allowing the fruit extra weeks of hangtime not typically seen in recent vintages.

VINEYARD COMPOSITION

This wine is what we like to think of as a pure expression of history. It is comprised of a mixture of original, old blocks from the Hyland Vineyard, and some newer plots on the property. This Pinot Noir is a select blend of the renowned Coury clone, all grown in Volcanic Jory clay soil and nestled in the foothills of the Coastal Range.
